The above varieties are all perfectly hardy and do not require any particular treatment for success. Lilies prefer a well-drained sandy soil. If your soil is heavy, place a few inches of sand under each bulb. Lilies do best when planted between Peonies, so that the ground is shaded by the peony foliage and the top can have the sun.

HEMEROCALLIS

(Yellow Day Lily)

Day Lilies bloom, like Peonies, when there is very little color in the garden. Peonies, Hemerocallis, Philadelphus Virginal and such things are the only ones you can rely upon during that part of the growing season.

Very good in semi-shady locations or amongst evergreens.
